Is this [Name]?

Hi [Name], this is [Your Name] from the HackByte team at IIIT Jabalpur. I hope you're doing well. We connected during HackByte 3.0 — you had either participated or registered for the event. Am I catching you at a good time for a quick 60-second update?

If no -

Okh no worries but can you please tell the time when you are getting free.

Else -

That's great.

Since you've already shown interest in HackByte, you know the energy and impact of the event. We're now organizing the fourth edition, HackByte 4.0, and this time it's going to be bigger with better challenges, mentorship, networking opportunities, and prizes.

If you participated earlier, we'd genuinely love to see you compete again because your past experience makes you a strong candidate for the upgraded tracks. And if you had registered earlier but couldn't participate, this is a perfect chance to experience the event fully this time. Registrations are now open, and we'd be really excited to have you onboard. Can I count you in for HackByte 4.0?

If you'd like more details, the official website is live and I can share the registration link with you right after this call.

Thank you so much for your time, [Name]. Hope to see you at HackByte 4.0. Have a great day!
